AREAS OF SUPPORT

Choose the area of support that's most important to you and your organization.

EXHIBITIONS

Each year, we present an engaging series of special exhibitions and permanent collection installations. The series includes thematic exhibitions and individual artists—with an emphasis on American Southern visual arts, culture, and artistic achievements of the past and present.

VISITING ARTISTS SERIES

In 2016, the Gibbes launches its first ever Visiting Artists series in renovated studio spaces on the first floor. The artists will interact with museum visitors, lead public programs, and create works displayed in special exhibitions.

EDUCATION & OUTREACH

We offer diverse programs for both adults and children, including studio classes, lectures, workshops, and in-school programs. We provide an ideal setting for inquiry-based learning that allows art objects to be used to teach history, mathematics, science, and writing. Partnering with Title I schools as well as underserved schools receiving minimal federal funding, we offer an array of programs and summer camp scholarships.

1858 PRIZE FOR CONTEMPORARY SOUTHERN ART

An annual $10,000 prize awarded to an artist whose work contributes to a new understanding of art in the South. Only artists from Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia are eligible. Prominent curators, visual arts professionals, Society 1858 members, and Gibbes Museum staff members judge each year's submissions.

SCHOLARSHIP, CONSERVATION, CURATORIAL SUPPORT, & RESEARCH

The Gibbes scholarship facilitates a deeper understanding of Southern American art. Upcoming projects include a collection catalog highlighting 100 masterworks from the Museum's esteemed collection and a publication focused on the Museum's stellar Japanese print collection. Ten significant paintings have been identified as needing conservation.

ACQUISITION

The Gibbes' art collection, acquired by the Carolina Art Association (CAA), is one of the single greatest cultural assets of the Lowcountry. Few collections in the United States match its depth, breadth, and quality in American art relating to the South. These works serve as the inspiration for the Museum's groundbreaking exhibitions, and innovative educational programs and events. The CAA continues to acquire museum quality objects by artists native to the region, exhibited in the region, or those who have created works that relate to the region.
